John Wilson's Sinfonia of London present Rachmaninov, Rimsky-Korsakov & Bacewicz

Wednesday November 4th at 7.30 (coach 6pm) at the Anvil, Basingstoke

Bacewicz - Concerto for string orchestra

This short piece, written in 1948, takes its inspiration from the Brandenburg concertos, while showing a panache and energy all its own.

Rachmaninov - Piano Concerto no. 2

Rachmaninov's second piano concerto was a breakthrough piece after years of creative block. Its passionate and lyrical character has deservedly made it a favourite amongst his works. Many remember it as the music for "Brief Encounter"

Rimsky-Korsakov – Scheherazade

This suite takes tales from the Arabian Nights and dresses them in gorgeous, inventive orchestral colours to make a dramatic and richly satisfying work.

Benjamin Grosvenor - piano
